Council was petitioned by 100 members of the Pennsylvania Avenue Association to enact any further ordinances restricting parking on the avenue until a long range plan could be developed and further study made. Karl Timm, chairman of the Public Safety Committee, early in the game, however, stated the ordinance would not be placed on second reading as scheduled. Action was delayed on the controversial issue.

PROPOSED PARKING BAN AIRED

It was another long session for borough council Monday night as once again the knotty problem of restricted parking on the south side of Pennsylvania avenue e. was aired. With 16 members of council and some 30 representatives of the newly formed Pennsylvania Avenue Association who oppose parking restrictions on hand, many views were aired, explanations given and contradictions untangled. A map and diagram showing proposals to permit a continuous flow of traffic is on display in council chambers for further study before the next council meeting. (Photo by Mahan)

Johnson Predicts Broad Cooperation And Progress in Central America

WITH PRESIDENT JOHNSON (AP) — President Johnson wound up his airborne drop-in visits to Central America Monday predicting a new dawn of cooperation and progress for the area — "a new beginning toward prosperity for all the people."

He was greeted by cheering crowds at airports in the old banana republics of Nicaragua, Costa Rica, Honduras and Guatemala on the swift series of stops to return their presidents home after their weekend summit session at San Salvador, El Salvador.

The trip was something of a personal triumph for Johnson who hasn't seen many big, noisy, cheering crowds in the last year or so in the United States. But in all five of the Latin American countries he visited, people turned out by thousands and greeted him with enthusiasm.

Guatemala City was the last airport of call for Johnson on a trip that started Saturday morning in Texas.

The finale was a day of contrasts in several respects.

Johnson and his presidential guests started off at San Salvador in fine weather. Then they were drenched by pouring rain in Managua, Nicaragua; enjoyed unusually cool weather under a hazy sun at San Jose, Costa Rica; got bright sunshine and tropical heat in San Pedro Sula in Honduras, and cooling clouds at the last stop before the return flight to Texas.

The President arrived at San Antonio at 7:22 p.m. CDT and took off five minutes later for his ranch. He was accompanied by Mrs. Johnson and their daughter, Luci Nugent.

The contrasts were even more noticeable in the field of security — the troops at Managua where there is a strong-man government and a complete absence of troops in Costa Rica, a nation of showpiece stability with no army whatever.

In Guatemala, a land of frequent ferment and guerrilla activity from both right and left, it was with apparent significant reason that the several thousand persons on hand at airport were screened and admitted by invitation only.

Johnson's concentration was on the great accomplishments he is crediting to the Central American summit session in El Salvador. He saw it as a meeting "brightening the road of hope" for the hemisphere.

A crowd estimated by the U.S. Embassy at 50,000 cheered, chanted and waved flags in the steaming, rainy capital of Managua in Nicaragua.

In San Jose, Costa Rica the crowd was much smaller — about 15,000 — but it was enthusiastic.

The achievements of San Salvador and its four allies in their common march, Johnson said, promise that they "can respond successfully to the needs and the dreams of your peoples."

Young Girl Kidnapped From Home

A 15-year-old Corry area girl was kidnapped at 10:45 a.m. Monday from the yard at her home on Route 426 two miles north of Corry.

State Police Sgt. John Krupiec of the Warren substation said a car stopped and the assailants grabbed Karen Sue Cooney. There was evidence of a scuffle and the girl's mother heard her call for help. By the time the mother ran out of the house, police stated, the car had disappeared so there is no description at all of the vehicle.

Karen is described as five feet, four inches tall with light brown hair. At the time of the kidnapping, she was wearing black rimmed glasses, red jeans and a blue blouse.

Area police have been alerted.

The meetings of Johnson and the presidents of these five nations ended Saturday.

Sunday was a day for easing up and getting out among the people. Monday Johnson took off on an unprecedented delivery expedition to take the other visiting chief executives home on a roundabout route to Managua, San Jose, in Costa Rica, San Pedro Sula in Honduras and Guatemala city.

Marines in Savage Fighting Near Demilitarized Zone

SAIGON (AP) — Savage fighting between U.S. Marines and North Vietnamese near the demilitarized zone pointed up Monday the threat of a new enemy offensive in the far north.

In addition to enemy pressure near the zone dividing Vietnam, the possibility of new attacks on Saigon raised the prospects that the allies may face heavy fighting on two fronts.

President Nguyen Van Thieu announced he was postponing again a visit to the United States because of the threat of a new enemy offensive.

U.S. and South Vietnamese officials are known to feel the enemy will try to make good on warnings of new and more intensive attacks in South Vietnam.

A U.S. military spokesman reported Marines killed 201 North Vietnamese in two battles Sunday and one last Friday.

All the fighting centered around Gio Linh, an allied combat base near the eastern end of the demilitarized zone and about three miles south of the zone.

Backed by planes, artillery and tanks, the Marines reported they killed 67 North Vietnamese in the Sunday fighting. Marine losses were given as five killed and 17 wounded.

Fighting near Gio Linh raged all day Friday and the Marines said they killed 134 North Vietnamese while taking losses of five dead and 64 wounded.

Planes and Navy ships have been pounding the northern three miles of the zone, where the North Vietnamese are dug in, and communications leading down from the north in an effort to check the flow of men and weapons.

In the past eight days, U.S. Air Force B52 Stratofortresses alone have dumped 5,000 tons of bombs in the zone and just to the north.

There was little action elsewhere except around Saigon, where South Vietnamese troops launched another of the sweeps that officers believe have been a factor in stalling off new enemy attacks on Saigon.

BUT ALTERNATIVE DEFEATED

Council Hears Strong Protests To 'No Parking'

By BETTY RICE

An ordinance scheduled for second reading to further restrict parking on the south side of Pennsylvania avenue e., Monday night never reached that point.

Warren Attorney Sidney Blackman, representing the newly formed Pennsylvania Avenue Association, presented a petition on behalf of the group, the points of which were outlined in Saturday's edition of the Times - Mirror and Observer.

Over 31 representatives of the association voiced strong objections to progressive elimination of parking on the avenue as did several members of council.

Karl Timm, chairman of council's Public Safety Committee, after stating the ordinance would not be placed on second reading, directed the attention of council and its visitors to a map prepared by his committee showing the area involved in an ordinance already passed, the one under consideration and the traffic flow east from the Pennsylvania avenue bridge to Canton street.

Timm indicated the possibility of a continuous traffic flow in that particular area. He stated the proposal would be checked with the State Highway Department but he was certain the proposals were in accordance with the manual of traffic control.

Noting that Route 6 is a truck traffic route, Timm pointed out a proposed parking lot in the Franklin street area as outlined in the borough master plan, the possibility of 15-minute parking spaces, inclusion of bus stops, location changes for drop mail boxes as well as a proposed parking lot east of Guffre's Market.

Prior to introduction of visitors, President James Torrance admitted council was faced with a controversial subject and urged both councilmen and others to try to keep it cool on a hot summer evening.

A motion by Rockwell O'Sheill of the third ward that matters of traffic congestion and parking on the streets located in the business districts be referred by council to the Warren Borough Planning Commission and that the commission be empowered to hold hearings, retain professional assistance and generally do all things necessary to prepare a long-range plan to be in the best interests of the community at large, was defeated by a nine to seven margin.

O'Sheill contended that elimination of parking, the traffic system and instituting of traffic lanes should not be piecemeal but all done at the same time. The Avenue Association, now 100 strong, petitioned council not to pass any ordinances limiting parking on the avenue until the long range plan has been completed.

Erie Man is County's 10th Traffic Fatality

Warren County recorded its 10th traffic fatality at 4:10 p.m. Monday when a 61 year old Erie man died at Hamot Hospital, Erie, of injuries sustained June 22 in a truck accident on Route 59 north of Warren.

Peterson was taken to Warren General Hospital with head injuries and later transferred to Hamot Hospital in Erie.

Born in Warren Aug. 25, 1906, he was the son of Mr. and Mrs. Oscar Peterson. He had been a resident of the Warren area most of his life moving to Erie in 1940. A retired truck driver, he had been employed for the Lyons Transportation Co., for

Council of Churches Youth Condemn War

UPPSALA, Sweden (AP) — Youth participants in the World Council of Churches assembly, who have no vote, came up Monday with a resolution condemning the role of the United States and its allies in Vietnam. They challenged the assembly to produce a similar statement.

Harry Ashmall of Britain, spokesman for the youths, read the resolution at a council news briefing.

He said it was "a representative statement of the youth assembly," voted on in plenary session and approved by 73 votes to 2. Asked where the other half of the 150 young participants were at the time, Ashmall said they were "tied up by other business elsewhere." He declined to elaborate.

The resolution demanded immediate cessation of bombing of all parts of North Vietnam and withdrawal of all foreign military personnel, under United Nations supervision.

It said the United States, Australia and South Korea should be condemned for their involvement in Vietnam and that "the churches who have not yet taken up the struggle against this aggression should be urged to do so by the WCC."

Ashmall also expressed strong support for American deserters in Sweden and elsewhere. He said his group was trying to arrange to meet with defectors in Sweden to demonstrate this support.

619 Traffic Deaths Recorded

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Traffic accidents during the four-day celebration of Independence Day killed 619 men, women and children. This compared with 553 deaths in a non-holiday weekend of equal length.

The toll fell short of the National Safety Council's advance estimate that 700 to 800 Americans might lose their lives on streets and highways during the period that began at 6 p.m. Wednesday and ended at midnight Sunday.

The council Monday termed the lower-than-expected toll a significant gain in traffic safety.

"The deaths that took place make up a tragic version of the traditional Independence Day parade," stated the council's president, Howard Pyle.

"But the fact there weren't more is an encouraging sign that good sense may yet triumph."

The council said Monday motor vehicle fatalities during the first five months of this year averaged 134 a day. During the Fourth of July weekend they averaged 144.

The national record for an Independence Day holiday period is 732. It was written during a four-day period last year. It also stands as a record for any summer holiday period.

The record traffic toll for any holiday period was set during a four-day observance of Thanksgiving in 1966. It was 748.

The lowest traffic death total on any four-day Independence Day celebration since World War II is 231. It was set in 1946.

To provide a basis for comparison The Associated Press surveyed deaths in the nonholiday period between 6 p.m. Wednesday June 19 and midnight Sunday June 23. The total was 553.

Deaths in boating accidents during the Independence Day weekend numbered 49 and drownings totaled 193.

No fireworks deaths were reported.

MANFREY HONORED

Eugene Manfrey, seated center, senior vice commander, Pennsylvania Dept., Veterans of Foreign Wars, was honored at a dinner Monday night held at Three Flags Inn. Manfrey is expected to be elected the next commander of the state VFW organization, succeeding present state commander Norman F. McFadden, when the state dept., VFW conducts their 49th annual convention in Philadelphia July 10-13. Among

Israeli and Egyptian troops exchanged artillery and small arms fire for more than three hours Monday along the Suez Canal cease-fire line, the Israeli army announced.

The new clash, the first at the Canal since June 23, broke out at a time when the possibilities of a negotiated peace in the Middle East were under discussion in London, Moscow and Jerusalem.

The Israeli army reported the battle began at 5:10 p.m. and continued until U.N. observers arranged a halt. The Israelis reported one of their soldiers wounded, but gave no information on Egyptian casualties.

Cairo's version of the fighting was still awaited after nightfall.

Israel said the battle was started by Egyptians who raked Israeli positions north of Port Taufiq with artillery and small arms fire. The army said Israeli troops fired back.

Israeli army reports said that the fighting was along a six-mile front at the canal's southern end. Israel said that one cease-fire was arranged, but that the Egyptians ignored it.

Israeli troops then resumed shelling Egyptian positions until the second cease-fire was arranged, the army said.

In London, meanwhile there was a flurry of diplomatic exchanges and some signs that Russia was trying to get the Arabs and Israelis to agree on a settlement.

Special United Nations envoy Gunnar V. Jarring conferred at length in London with Foreign Minister Abdul Monem Rifal of Jordan.

The secret session at the Jordanian Embassy appeared to be a prelude for more significant exchanges in London. Jarring was to meet with Michael Stewart, British foreign secretary, Tuesday night and Stewart has planned a meeting Thursday with George Ball, chief American delegate at U.N. headquarters.

President Gamal Abdel Nasser of Egypt prolonged his stay in Moscow for additional talks with Soviet leaders on the Middle East. A terse Soviet announcement gave no sign that Nasser and his hosts had agreed on an approach to a Middle East settlement.

The announcement said only that Nasser had "a warm, friendly conversation" with Communist party Chief Leonid I. Brezhnev, Premier Alexei N. Kosygin and President Nikolai V. Podgorny.

In Jerusalem, Foreign Minister Abba Eban told the Israeli cabinet Monday there was nothing to indicate Egypt is ready for peace.

Council Okays $259,000 Street Paving Project

JAMESTOWN — Jamestown's City Council, Monday night approved a resolution authorizing the paving of Falconer Street from Curtis Street to the City Lines. The action, which comes after more than seven weeks of deliberation and delay, authorizes a $259,000 contract with the Amadori Construction Company of Buffalo. In a unanimous vote the council approved a $223,000 bond issue to help with the cost of paving. The remaining $36,000 was included in the 1968 City Budget.

A second resolution from the Highway Committee dealing with the operation of the trash dump on Eighteenth street was rejected by the council in a split vote. A two-thirds majority was required to authorize $44,870.00 to be added to the garbage contract with Curo Construction Company to operate the trash dump. The vote on the resolution was 8-3, which was short of the required two-thirds vote.

At the present time the Department of Public Works operates the trash dump but DPW Director Joseph E. Veale told the council the operation is tying up too many men and too much equipment which are needed for other important work.

In other action George H. Kessler of 7 Rideley Terrace was appointed to a nine year term on the Board of Trustees of Jamestown Community College. Kessler will replace Charles H. Price who is the current Chairman of the college's Trustees.

Two Youthful

Runaways Return Home

SMETHPORT — Two youthful runaways were returned to their homes over the weekend after nearly a week's absence, the McKean County Sheriff's Department said.

Jack Ames, 17, of Rew and Miss Jane Thwing, also 17, of Eldred became the objects of a search by law enforcement agencies last Sunday evening, when Mrs. Meris Ames told the Sheriff's Department that her son, accompanied by Miss Thwing, was missing.

The two were found Saturday in Buffalo, N. Y., by the police department, which held them until Meris Ames, the boy's father, came to take them home later in the day.

City's Low Cost Housing Issue Remains Unsettled

JAMESTOWN — The status of Jamestown's proposed low cost housing facilities for senior citizens in the former Hotel Jamestown, continues to remain very confused. The project must receive the approval of the City Planning Commission which heard about the project for the first time last Saturday.

Monday's meeting of the planning Commission, is a regular scheduled meeting and it is not known whether the commission will again discuss the housing project. Last Saturday's meeting was adjourned to the call of chairman Hugh A. Carr Jr.

Carr announced Sunday he had polled the Commission by phone and that a majority favored the project. However, four of the five commission members, who attended Saturday's meeting say they were not contacted by Carr for their opinions. In refuting Carr's statement Commission Vice-Chairman Stanley N. Lundine, Fred J. Cusimano, John W. Thompson, and DPW Director Joseph E. Veale all said they felt more specific information should be made available before the commission reaches a decision.

Answering the questions concerning the origin of the housing project Dr. Milton E. Battler, one of the developers, said the project was initiated following what he described as "several encouraging meetings with Mayor Charles B. Magnuson." Dr. Battler said Mayor Magnuson advised them of the availability of federal funds for such a project.

The proposed plan calls for the conversion of the 251 hotel rooms into a dozen two bedroom apartments and 93 one bedroom apartments for low income senior citizens. The Federal Government will then purchase the facilities from the local developers and turn it over to the newly created Jamestown Housing Authority.

The only comment offered by Planning Commission Chairman Carr, was, "The matter will eventually be resolved in one way or another."

Police Probe

Auto Accident

Borough police are investigating a traffic accident which occurred at 2:58 a. m. Monday on Market street near Seventh avenue.

According to police, an unidentified southbound car struck guard rails and is supposed to be extensively damaged.

Witnesses also believe a passenger suffered possible injury in the mishap.

The car in question spun around following the impact and took off in a northerly direction with its lights off.

U.S. Marines Launch Highly Mobile Warfare

LANDING ZONE CATES, Vietnam (AP) — With more helicopters, U.S. Marines have launched highly mobile warfare something that was impossible at the besieged, fixed base at Khe Sanh.

A Marine company long accustomed to walking recently made nine helicopter assaults in 10 days. Said the company commander: "The morale of my troops skyrocketed. It's the only way to fight."

Khe Sanh was the main fixed position of the war, absorbing 5,200 Marines who lived under a hail of enemy shell fire for 77 days before a relief column lifted the siege in April.

In abandoning Khe Sanh, the Marines said the idea was to return to mobility in war, something the Leathernecks are trained for. They are not garrison troops.

The mobility has returned. Cates, on a hill commanding a view of Khe Sanh six miles to the west, is a key to this new mobility.

It has six 155mm howitzers doing the same type job as the old Khe Sanh battery with 5,000 fewer Marines protecting the gunners.

There are other Marine fire bases, too, and three battalions for helicopter assaults.

"It's now pretty much like it will be," said the 3rd Marine Division commander, Maj. Gen. Raymond G. Davis. "If an enemy battalion shows up we'll pounce on it and destroy it. Khe Sanh was a yoke around my neck."

The present shift of the 3rd Marine Division from static to fluid operations is possible for three reasons:

—Helicopters. The chronic shortage of Marine helicopters was eased with the arrival of another Marine squadron of CH-46s. Needs are expected to get broader appreciation with the recent assignment of Brig. Gen. Homer S. Hill, a Marine air officer, to the Leatherneck helicopter base at Quang Tri below the demilitarized zone. The Marines also are using giant U.S. Army CH-54 Flying Cranes to spot heavy equipment, such as the howitzers at Cates. Whether there are enough helicopters to sustain the new Marine thinking remains to be seen.

—Air power. Without Khe Sanh, more jets are available for air strikes. The arrival of the new OV10A reconnaissance planes means more Marine pilots for air control of air strikes.

—Davis. The winner of "the five big ones" — the Medal of Honor, Navy Cross, two Silver Stars, Legion of Merit, Bronze Star — he came to the 3rd Division from the post of deputy commander for the northern provisional corps. There he worked closely with the Army's most mobile units, the 101st Airborne and 1st Air Cavalry divisions, and was impressed, say several high-level sources,

The Warren County Commissioners in an informal session Monday discussed several events on their calendar this week.

Today (Tuesday) they will attend a meeting of the Northwest District County Commissioners Association in St. Marys. At the session they will have an opportunity to talk to Commissioner C. Robert Budd, legislative representative and Commissioner Gordon Haverstock, Huntingdon County, regarding the problems involved in the state mandated Child Welfare and Mental Health-Mental Retardation programs.

On Wednesday, the commissioners and Warren County Chamber of Commerce hosts a meeting of the State Highway Commission.

Commission members arrive at Bradford Regional Area Airport at 11:30 a.m. to travel to Kinzua Dam Overlook. Participants will proceed to Three Flags Inn for a 12:30 p.m. luncheon and at 2 p.m. will take a bus tour over Cobham Park Road, Scandia road, Hatch Run, Routes 62 and 8 to the highway building in Starbrick.

Flying out of the Corry Airport the highway commission will attend a reception hosted by the Erie Chamber of Commerce.

The presentation at the luncheon and the tour will be in the hands of Clifford Johnson, chairman of the Chamber's transportation committee. The U.S. Forest Service will detail plans for development along the west bank of Allegheny Reservoir.

Commissioner Thomas J. Donnelly reminded that on May 29, a request was made for Appalachian fund assistance for Section 207 housing in Warren County. Although the communication was acknowledged, Donnelly said, there has been no additional response from the Bureau of Community Affairs.

Donnelly also reported a recent visit to the Rouse Home by John Grandinetti of the Pennsylvania Department of Health. The officer recommended that a refrigerator and dishwasher be installed in the former women's building which has been remodeled as a separate unit for ambulatory guests. It was also recommended that non-skid material be placed on steps and fire-fighting equipment be installed in the main kitchen.

Sen. Willard To Initiate 'Hippie' Camp Probe

MEADVILLE — State Sen. James E. Willard of the 50th District, which includes Crawford County, said Monday that he intends to take initial steps for a thorough investigation of the so-called "hippie" camp in Summit Township.

On Sunday night, Sen. Willard announced that he planned to meet Monday with Dr. Thomas W. Georges Jr., state secretary of health, to ask for a full investigation of the camp from the health angle. Later he expected to meet with Col. Frank McKetta, commissioner of state police, for an investigation by this department.

The senator said he will ask Dr. Georges to send people here from Harrisburg to conduct the health investigation. He feels that officials of the regional department have "done a good job" in their inquiry about the camp but "they are bound by too many rules and regulations. This is too big for local people," Sen. Willard said, "and I am asking for help from higher authorities. I am concerned about the health problem they (the hippies) are creating and the influence they are having on our young people."

Sen. Willard has visited the camp twice and it is his opinion that "they definitely will not have the house ready for human occupancy by the time winter arrives." He was referring to the old farm house on the Close property which the group is attempting to make habitable for year-round occupancy.

The senator was among several state and county officials who attended a public meeting last week at Harrisburg to discuss the group's presence and what, if anything, can be done about them. In a public statement Sunday night the senator pledged that he "will do all in my power to get the camp and its people cleaned up or moved out." He hinted that this might include legislative action if there is time before the current session adjourns.

Shafer Agrees To Discuss Gun Control Bill

HARRISBURG (AP) — House Minority Leader Herbert Fineman said Monday Gov. Shafer has accepted his invitation to begin joint discussions on a mutually acceptable gun control bill.

Fineman, a Philadelphia Democrat, said he expected the negotiations to begin as soon as Shafer designates an aide to represent him.

Fineman said he would assign Gerald Goldberg, his assistant research counsel, to the task. The invitation for joint talks was extended by Fineman in a letter to the chief executive in which he noted both had introduced differing gun control bills.

Fineman wrote: "At this point, we both seek the same ultimate objective differing only in our means ... I honestly believe that if we were to join forces in vigorously pushing for the identical piece of legislation, we could conceivably have this legislation enacted even though it will be hotly contested and will continue to remain very controversial."

Fineman's bill would require all gun purchases or sales transactions to be registered with the proper authorities. Shafer's bill would register people by requiring all gun owners to receive a state police permit.

Fineman stressed the urgency for speedy discussions, noting that the General Assembly is contemplating a summer break through August within the next two or three weeks.

Youth's Body Found Along Railroad

MT. POCONO, Pa. (AP) — The body of a 17-year-old Monroe County youth, apparently hit by a train, was found early Monday along Erie, Lackawanna Railroad tracks at nearby Tobyhanna.

Police said the victim, identified as Michael Rovenchik of Tobyhanna, was found about 20 feet from a grade crossing.

Lower Susquehanna River Being Considered as Recreational Area

LANCASTER, Pa. (AP) — Serious consideration is being given to converting the lower Susquehanna River into a national recreation area, federal and state officials have disclosed.

The plan, still in its infancy, would require an act of Congress and approval by the President. A decision on whether to proceed will be made within a few months.

Paul Adams, Philadelphia office of the federal Bureau of Outdoor Recreation, said the comprehensive study seeks to estimate water-oriented recreation needs along the Susquehanna at the future dates: 1980, 2000 and 2020.

Both Adams and William C. Forrey, assistant director of the Bureau of State Parks, said the proposed project would compare with park projects in the East, notable Delaware Water Gap National Recreation Area, better known as Tocks Island Project.

There would be one main difference. The Delaware Water Gap project requires construction of a dam—for flood control and creation of a lake—and the acquisition of land from private individuals.

Dams already are built on the lower Susquehanna and much of the shoreline now is in the hands of public utilities—power companies and the Penn Central.

The power companies have spent millions of dollars in developing park facilities along the river, but have done so with some reluctance. Officials point out they are in the business of generating electricity, not running parks. Companies have financed parks largely at the behest of the Federal power Commission.

Forrey and Adams say power companies probably would be willing to turn over recreation facilities to a federal agency. If it becomes a national park, riverfront land owned by Philadelphia Electric Co., Pennsylvania Power & Light Co., Safe Harbor Water Power Corp. and possibly Metropolitan Edison Co., would be involved.

Pennsylvania Power & Light says its expenditure to develop the Lake Aldred section will come to $1 million by 1980, about $500,000 already has been spent.

Philadelphia Electric is spending $1.5 million on its Muddy Run Park, scheduled for completion next year. The park, although not on the Susquehanna, is located at the end of a reservoir fed by Susquehanna water. The company also has extensive fishing facilities at Conowingo Dam.

Safe Harbor Water Power operates extensive recreation facilities in the Lake Clarke section, between Safe Harbor Dam and Columbia.

Traffic Safety Bureau Head Seeking Change

HARRISBURG (AP) — Traffic Safety Commissioner Harry K. Brainerd told a Senate Committee on Highway Safety Monday that his bureau could perform more efficiently were it removed from the Department of Revenue.

Testifying before the five-member senatorial panel in the third public hearing of a series dealing with traffic safety, Brainerd said his department has "too long remained in a department that is unrelated to traffic safety work."

He pointed to the necessity for a cabinet-level post responsible for traffic safety. On this matter he won agreement from the committee chairman, Sen. Clarence Manbeck, R-Lebanon, who said legislation creating such a cabinet office would be forthcoming.

In his testimony, Brainerd cited an insufficiency in the reporting of accidents on a statewide basis. Accident reporting, he said, should be "stepped up" and made more comprehensive so that corrective measures can be introduced.

"Speed faster than the conditions warrant" is the major cause of accidents, Brainerd told the committee.

And yet, the commissioner said, speed limits on some major arteries are either too stringent or simply inaccurate for conditions. He stressed the importance of a section in the motor vehicle code which permits the commissioner of traffic safety to set a new speed limit on any highway to fit existing conditions.

He asked the senate committee, however, to introduce legislation which would include this provision under the state point system for driving infractions. Currently, a driver who exceeds the temporary speed limit set by the commissioner is not assessed points for his action but simply charged with a violation.

Another aspect of the motor vehicle code which Brainerd said should be examined is the need for "special licenses. Present rules enable anyone bearing a Pennsylvania Driver's license to operate any variety of vehicle.

Explaining the need for a breakdown in licensing, Brainerd said: "I've often said that I love my wife dearly, but she is not qualified to drive a tractor-trailer."

N.Y.-Moscow Airline Flights Begin Soon

MOSCOW (AP) — A decade after a Moscow-New York airline service was first envisaged in official Soviet-American talks, Pan American World Airways and Aeroflot agreed Monday to begin flying next week.

An IL62 jet passenger plane of Aeroflot, the Soviet government airline, is scheduled to leave next Monday for Montreal and New York and return here Wednesday.

Pan American will fly a Boeing 707 from New York on Monday, arriving in Copenhagen and then Moscow on Tuesday, and going back to Copenhagen and New York the same day.

The opening date of the service was agreed upon in an exchange of letters by the U.S. Embassy and the Soviet Foreign Ministry. The letters implemented a basic air service agreement signed in Washington in November 1966.

The first Soviet-American cultural exchange agreement in 1958 mentioned airline service. A detailed agreement was worked out in 1961 but before it could be signed the Berlin wall went up and the United States decided it was "not an appropriate time" to sign.

Aeroflot began flying to Montreal in November 1966. It will simply extend the route to New York.

The first-class fare, New York-Moscow, is $854 one way, $1,100 round trip; the basic economy fare is $384 one way and $730 round trip, except in the peak eight-week summer season, when economy fares will be a little higher.

Principal Bauer Attending NEA Convention

Fred S. Bauer, principal of Eisenhower High School, is among the 350-member Pennsylvania delegation attending the 106th National Education Association convention in Dallas, Texas.

The Warren County educator has been nominated to serve on the national resolutions committee.

According to Bauer, the pace of the 1968 NEA convention quickens as the action moves from committee hearings to general sessions. Key issues that will be hotly debated are: right to strike, increased dues, unity among all NEA units, increased salaries, equal educational opportunities for all children and firearms control.

These issues and others, Bauer reported, will be debated in open delegation sessions and in state delegation meetings.

Professional negotiations with local school boards has emerged as the paramount issue for the 12,000 delegates.

Gov. Hughes Asked to Help Avert Strike

TRENTON, N.J. (AP) — Gov. Richard J. Hughes was asked Monday to use his good offices to help avert an impending nationwide strike against the Campbell Soup Co. at tomato harvest time.

New Jersey tomato growers urged Hughes and other state officials to contact both sides in the labor dispute immediately to help "prevent this catastrophe to New Jersey agriculture and to the economy of South Jersey, including the welfare of hundreds of migrant workers."

Arthur H. West, president of the New Jersey Farm Bureau, said he had been informed by officials of Local 80-A of the United Packinghouse, Food and Allied Workers, AFL-CIO, Camden, that a nationwide strike of Campbell plant workers is imminent, unless the unions involved and the company can reach agreement on a new contract. He said the unions had stated an intention to strike as soon as the first tomatoes reach Campbell plants across the country.

"We expect our New Jersey tomatoes to start ripening around July 22," West said. "Some 200 of our growers have about $5 million tied up in tomatoes contracted to Campbell Soup Co., but the company has no responsibility to pay for them until they are delivered and accepted at the plant."

West said that if a strike develops and continues for very long, many farmers would lose an entire year's income, farm workers would have to be laid off, and many banks and others who extend credit to farmers "will have to face the consequences."

Four Small Children Die In House Fire

POINT PLEASANT, W.Va. (AP) — A fire which destroyed a rural home Monday took the lives of four small children and an aunt who stayed with them while their mother was teaching.

The four children of Mrs. Velma M. Allen, 28, of Leon Rd. 1, and her sister, Francis McCune, 24, perished in the blaze 15 miles east of Point Pleasant. No one else was in the one-story frame house.

A Point Pleasant funeral home listed the dead Allen children as William, 17 months; Linda Sue, 4, Betty Jo, 5, and Lenora Lea, 6.

Mrs. Allen was 65 miles away on an assignment as a student teacher at South Charleston High School.

Cause of the fire was unknown. It was discovered by Mrs. Clarence Durst, a neighbor of Mrs. Allen. Mrs. Durst said she ran to the Allen home, but could not enter because the front of the dwelling already was in flames.

Six African Students To Visit Warren Area

Six African students will visit the area for one week, from July 15 through 21. Two State Department officials will accompany them.

The first two days they will be the guests of the U.S. Forest Service, Allegheny National Forest. Wednesday, July 17, they will confer with the Pennsylvania Department of Forests and Waters, at the District 14 offices and in field tours. Thursday, July 18 they will be guests of the Pennsylvania State Extension Service. Friday, July 19, they will spend the day with the staff of the Warren County offices of the Soil Conservation Service of the U.S. Department of Agriculture.

From here the group goes to Missoula, Montana.

The men are in the United States direct from Africa, under auspices of the African American Institute, in Washington. They are participants in the educational travel program of the Bureau of Educational and Cultural Affairs of the United States Department of State. John Large is the Department of State officer who is escorting them.

All have been studying in colleges and universities in the United Kingdom, some in graduate school.

Two of the visitors are from Nigeria: Oluremi Ademola Atanda has been a student in the University of Newcastle-upon-Tyne in England. He holds a degree of Bachelor of Science in biochemistry, and is doing graduate work in England.

Sunday W. Petters was graduated from the University of Ibadan, in Nigeria, with a bachelor of science degree in geology and Conservation.

Two are from Tanzania, East Africa: Khalid Salum Chumali, is a graduate student in the University of Wales, at Caerns, Wales, in forestry.

Jaffer Habil Sunderji is a student at Manchester University, Manchester, England.

From Ghana comes Clement Dorm-Azobu, with a bachelor of arts from the University of Ghana. He is now studying toward his PhD in geography at the University of Liverpool, England.

From Uganda comes Ponsiano Ssemwezi, who is a park warden at Murchison Falls Park, Uganda. He is a graduate of Makerere University College, with a bachelor of science from St. Mary's College, Kisubi.

Business Analyst Reports Unemployment to Climb

UNIVERSITY PARK, Pa. (AP) — The nation's unemployment rolls may enlarge due to the combination tax increase and spending cut signed into law by President Johnson, a Pennsylvania State University business analyst reported Monday.

Dr. R. Hadly Waters said that the measure should achieve its chief aims, however, by restoring confidence in the dollar, reducing the outflow of gold, and improving the nations' balance of payments problem.

Greater unemployment, Dr. Waters said, would be the inevitable result of an expected economic slowdown in the wake of the 10 per cent tax surcharge and $6 billion federal spending cut. Such a price would have to be paid to avoid inflation and financial disaster, he said.

The total effect of the legislation, Waters said, will be deflationary, dampening the excessive economic boom, checking the rising trend in prices, and lowering the current high interest rates.

The rate of increase in the consumer price level should be slowed by the tax bill, Waters said, although it will have little effect in actually reducing prices. He predicted the annual increase may drop from a current rate of 4 per cent annually to 3 per cent or less.

Other by-products of the adjustment in the federal economy should be a slow rise in personal incomes and a slowdown in consumer spending.

The retroactive part of the corporate tax bill should present a problem for industry, Waters said. New money will have to be found to meet expansion plans.

By the end of the year, new capital investment may be running below the level of a year ago, he predicted.

The Gross National Product, which grew mightily in the second quarter, should drop in growth rate from 10 per cent to between 5 and 7 per cent during the balance of this year, Waters said.

By sometime early next year, the level of business activity will indicate whether the tax surcharge can be dropped or must be continued or even decreased, Waters added.

State Highway Commission To Visit Here

The Pennsylvania State Highway Commission visits Warren Wednesday to review needed road improvement projects.

The visit has been arranged by State Senator Richard Frame and Assemblyman William Allen, who are concerned about the condition of many of the roads in the county.

Warren County Chamber of Commerce transportation committee is coordinating the commission's tour, aided by various government officials.

The tour includes a luncheon at the Three Flags. Among the highways inspected will be the Cobham Park and Scandia Mountain roads.

Clifford Johnson is chairman of the transportation committee.

Law: Basis of Society

As one reads of lawlessness and they have been getting in our political rebellion in colleges and universities and science courses, throughout the world, including the U.S., one cannot help but wonder: what is wrong with the educational system?

John Chamberlain, one of the out-system on which countless billions standing commentators on world affairs, in a recent article, writes citizens. It indicates that an over-on the student trend. He refers to haul of our educational program and it as anarchism. Mr. Chamberlain teaching approach may be needed. As says: "The very fact that the anarchic impulse can capture so many of law is the basis of a free society young U.S. leftists is in itself a com-and back it up with a guarantee of mentary on the sort of education punishment of lawbreakers."

Minimize Tax Hike

(Second in a Series)
This three-column series is designed to help you apply the new tax increase properly and in ways which will minimize its impact on your paycheck or profits. Continuing from yesterday:

+ If you're already paying an estimated tax for 1968, you may have to file an amended declaration and raise your estimated tax payments to reflect the new surcharge. This applies to payments and declarations of estimated tax due on or after Sept. 16, 1968 - and the law intends that the 7 1/2 per cent surcharge for '68 should be picked up in your remaining two installments due Sept. 16, '68 and Jan. 15, 1969.

As an illustration, if your estimated tax for '68 is raised by the surcharge from $1,000 to $1,075, $37.50 of the extra $75 is due Sept. 16, 1968 and $37.50, Jan. 15, 1969. Under the law, there is no penalty for underpayment of estimated tax if the installments paid are at least 80 per cent of the required estimated payments. Thus, in this example, payments of not more than $30 in each installment (80 per cent of $37.50) would be sufficient to bar any penalty.

+ If you have capital gains and pay a capital gains tax, you must apply the surcharge to this tax. For a calendar 1968 individual, the maximum capital gains tax is 26 1/2 per cent (25 per cent plus 1 1/2 per cent of 25 per cent). For a calendar 1968 corporation, the maximum tax is 27 1/2 per cent.

+ If you are involved with estates or trusts, you also must apply the 10 per cent surcharge, without any exemption or reduction in the lower brackets. For calendar 1968, your surcharge on estates or trusts is 7 1/2 per cent and for calendar 1969, it is 5 per cent. A fiscal year surcharge is prorated according to the number of days within the surcharge period. + A calendar year corporation must pay a full 10 per cent surcharge on its regular tax for 1968 and 5 per cent on its regular tax for 1969. A fiscal year corporation will prorate the tax surcharge depending on how many days of its taxable year fall within the surcharge period.

As an illustration, an Apr. 1 fiscal year corporation would pay roughly a 2 1/2 per cent surcharge on its 1967-68 tax, the full 10 per cent on its 1968-69 tax and roughly 2 1/2 per cent on its 1969-70 tax.

Here's a quick computation table prepared by the Research Institute of America to figure the surcharge due for a fiscal year corporation. Merely multiply the adjusted tax (generally tax before credits) by these percentages.

Full year ending	Multiply tax by this for surch.	Full year ending	Multiply tax by this for surch.

A corporation that has already filed a return for a fiscal year, subject to surcharge, without including the surcharge, has until Sept. 16 at least to pay the surcharge; no interest or penalty will apply to the unpaid surcharge for any period before Sept. 16. For instance, a corporation with a Jan. 31 fiscal year paid its tax for this fiscal year on April 15, 1968. It is retroactively liable for a surtax of about .85 per cent (31/365 of 10 per cent) on the tax it already paid for the fiscal year ending Jan. 31. It has until Sept. 16 at least to pay up without interest or penalty.

+ The surcharge applies to the unreasonable accumulations tax and the personal holding company tax as well as to the regular income tax.

It applies to the "adjusted tax" - meaning the tax before allowance of the investment credit, foreign tax credit or any similar credit except the retirement income credit. The retirement income credit does reduce the regular tax before the surcharge is computed.

French Interested In French

PARIS — All the French seem to want to talk about these days is THEIR revolution. They don't have any interest at all in what has been happening in the United States and they've been so boorish about it I've found myself bragging about our riots back home.

Buchwald

This is how the conversation has been going: "You should have been here during the uprising," Anatole said. "It was a fantastic."

"Maybe so," I said, "but you don't know what a riot is until you live through one in Washington, D.C."

"Ours wasn't a riot," Anatole said. "It was an all-out revolution."

"Ours could have been, except for the curfew. You didn't have a curfew in Paris, did you?"

"No, but we had a general strike," he said angrily. "You couldn't even get gasoline for your automobile."

"We had looting and burning. Whole blocks were incinerated."

"The students burned every car on the Left Bank," Anatole replied. "They also broke windows. Did you have any barricades?"

He had me there. "No, we didn't have any barricades, but we had marines and paratroopers patrolling the streets," I said. "We could have been at war."

"Our students took over all the buildings at the university," Anatole said.

"So did ours at Columbia. They gave no quarter."

Anatole toyed with his aperiitif. Then he said, "Our police were more brutal to the students than your police."

"How can you say that?" I cried. "Our police used billy clubs and tear gas and hoses."

"Aha," said Anatole. "Our police also used clubs. But they were six feet long, and the police threw the tear gas right into the students' faces. They also beat them up on the way to the station."

"Our students were also beat up. Many of them are still in jail. It sounds like you people had a tea party."

"A tea party?" Anatole said, slamming down his drink. "We had a million people march from the Place de la Republique to the Sorbonne."

"We had shootings in Detroit," I said.

"But we have censorship here on the television. You at least know what's going on."

"We're afraid to walk the streets at night," I said, hoping that would put Anatole in his place.

"All the banks were on strike," Anatole said, pretending he didn't hear me. "We didn't even have any money."

"Everyone in America owns a gun," I said.

"We almost overthrew President De Gaulle," Anatole declared.

"We overthrew President Johnson."

THE HARRIS SURVEY

Strength and Weakness of McCarthy

The strength and the weakness of the candidacy of Sen. Eugene McCarthy have far more to do with a man not in the race at all - President Johnson - than with either the Minnesota senator or his chief rival for the Democratic presidential nomination, Vice President Hubert Humphrey.

Sen. McCarthy is widely hailed by 75 per cent of the electorate for the courage of his decision to oppose Mr. Johnson "when no one else would." To an almost equally high 72 per cent of all voters, McCarthy's course has proved he is "an independent-minded man." By 52 to 19 per cent, voters say they have "high confidence" in his capability of running the office of President.

But being the symbol of anti-Johnson sentiment in the Democratic Party today is also bedeviling McCarthy in his bid to obtain his party's nomination.

At the moment, only a minority of the electorate as a whole, 45 per cent, gives Mr. Johnson positive marks on his handling of his office. This is up 7 points from the President's low of 38 per cent positive in March and down 13 points from his recent high of 57 per cent in April, just after he said he would not run again.

Among Democratic Party voters, President Johnson has a 56 per cent positive rating; he is most unpopular outside his party. McCarthy must win the Democratic nomination, however, from delegates far more likely to be reflective of the sentiment within rather than outside their party.

It comes as no surprise that Humphrey is the preferred choice of pro-Johnson Democrats by 59 to 30 per cent and that McCarthy wins over the Vice President by 54 to 33 per cent among anti-Johnson Democrats. But because more Democrats are favorable than unfavorable to the President, Humphrey holds a 48 to 40 per cent edge in party ranks.

In a very real sense, therefore, whether McCarthy can catch Humphrey in popularity among rank-and-file Democrats before that party's national convention on Aug. 28 in Chicago depends in large measure on Lyndon Johnson's standing in his own party during the next six weeks.

There has been much talk about what would happen to the pro-McCarthy vote this fall if Humphrey is nominated in Chicago next month. But the opposite side of the coin has not been explored: what would happen to the pro-Johnson and pro-Humphrey support if McCarthy is the nominee of the Democrats?

Up to now, McCarthy has been running well in the polls with a combined backing of his own young and affluent vote and the essential base of the lower-income and ethnic groups which make up the Democratic Party.

In the latest trial heats, McCarthy was running 8 points ahead of Richard Nixon, 44 to 36 per cent, with 12 percent for George Wallace and 8 per cent undecided. An analysis of the McCarthy vote reveals that his likely supporters break down 55-45 per cent

"With a smile of Christian charity, great Nixon's visage shown; He stilled the mighty tumult. He made the game go on."

A Few Extra Minutes

WASHINGTON — Passage of laws for the American people sometimes turns on very little things. The other day the passage of a gun control bill turned on the fact that three Senators were not willing to spend a few extra minutes in the Senate Judiciary Committee. The gun control bill lost.

The Judiciary Committee was considering the Tydings gun control bill, which has the backing of men such as Sen. Mike Mansfield of Montana but the bitter opposition of the National Rifle Association. It provides that each state shall be given time to work out its own gun registration system before the federal government steps in. President Johnson favors a stronger bill requiring federal registration from the start.

Sponsoring the former bill along with Tydings were Sens. George Smathers, D-Fla., and Hugh Scott, R-Pa. Also strongly backing the bill was Sen. Teddy Kennedy, D-Mass., brother of the two men who were victims of the assassin's bullet.

The Senate Judiciary Committee is strongly stacked with Southern fundamentalists and Republican vocalists for the gun lobby. They range from Big Jim Eastland of Mississippi to John McClellan of Arkansas and Sam Ervin of North Carolina, among the Southern fundamentalists, to Roman Hruska of Nebraska, the rooftop, tootling spokesman for the National Rifle Association who has been doing his best to delay any legislation. He figures that the longer the delay, the more the assassination of Bobby Kennedy in Los Angeles will be forgotten.

In between there are Quentin Burdick of North Dakota, the quiet spokesman for prairie pheasant game hunters, and Ed Long of Missouri, who has a hard time making up his mind on gun control.

When gun control was debated in the Judiciary Committee the other day, all these anti-control men were present. But three backers of the bill were not.

Sen. Tydings argued eloquently. He also used the telephone. Frantically he called two co-sponsors of the bill, Smathers of Florida and Scott of Pennsylvania. They said they would come for the vote. But somehow or other they never arrived.

Tydings also called Ted Kennedy, a member of the committee, who was passionately, tragically interested in gun control. Teddy wanted to be told a few minutes before the Judiciary Committee vote so he could get there at the last minute. But he never arrived.

The gun control bill, which it was hoped would discourage more assassinations such as those of President Kennedy, Sen. Robert Kennedy, and Martin Luther King, was stymied in committee by a 7 to 5 vote. If the three Senators who favored the legislation had taken the trouble to be present, the vote would have been the other way around.

Another vote is due in the Judiciary Committee this week. It will be interesting to see whether the three Senators this time are present.

"Ah, yes, but you did it peacefully." "Nevertheless, we got rid of our President and you didn't."

I could see Anatole was losing his cool, so I tried to placate him. "For a small country, you had a pretty good revolution."

"Don't patronize me," Anatole yelled. "It was a damn fine revolution and we haven't heard the end of it yet."

He got up from the table and stomped away, leaving me to pay the check.

I looked at him coldly. "Would you like to hear about the poor people's march?"

Nixon's Expanded Democracy

Mr. Richard Nixon is on to something very important, namely that some of the dissatisfactions of the new dissenters are absolutely justified, and that those dissatisfactions are by no means the monopoly of the left. Mr. Nixon's June 28 radio speech, "Towards an Expanded Democracy," suggests that his eye is finally focusing on some of the psychological consequences of omnipotent government which grew, alas, not merely under recent democratic administrations, but under Mr. Eisenhower's as well.

No matter, better late than never, and although Mr. Nixon's speech dribbled off into misty platitudes, the analytical framework is tough and exciting.

He began by saying that we have reason to believe that those of our demonstrators who are moved to revolution for the sake of revolution: those who specifically understand themselves as disciples of Castro or Guevara or Mao, are a very small minority, easily coped with by the assertion of the law. Mr. Nixon then goes on to describe those among the alienated who are not in any technical or ideological sense revolutionists. "Let's look," he says, "at some of the things they're angry about."

"A materialism that robs the individual of his sense of self. 'A widening gulf between the individual and his government as effective power moves further and further away. 'A political dialogue littered with broken promises, with false phrases and inflated hopes. 'A racial dialogue still studded with the old stereotypes. 'A welfare system that breaks families apart rather than holding them together. 'A disillusionment with wars that seem avoidable, in places that seem remote. 'An anxiety about the future, and about the place of the individual—who more and more seems alone and powerless against an overwhelming society. 'That is, of course, to identify the condition that has resulted from overweening government, and from the rhetoric of Utopia. Mr. Nixon went on to recommend a new Hoover Commission, whose mandate would be not merely to recommend ways in which the government might be improved, but to weigh the uses of government against expanded criteria, which would include not merely efficiency, but the effect on the subject-citizen."

Mr. Nixon, as I have noted, does not get terribly concrete, but it is quite enough that he should be explicitly endorsing an analysis that others have striven to make over the years.

A decade ago, writing about the then-Silent Generation, a young conservative observed that "there is personal satisfaction to be derived from having a hand in the shaping of events. A phenomenon of our age has been that fatalistic sense of personal remoteness from the mechanisms of public policy. There will not again be a robust political life in the undergraduate world until the student becomes convinced that it matters what he thinks about public problems. Briefly, after the war, the world appeared to be in flux, and from all over hands reached out, straining to leave individual marks on the clay—quick before it hardens."

Then—and suddenly now again—"It was generally believed that every individual exertion, every point scored, every pamphlet distributed, every polemic delivered, contributed to the crystallization of an historical impulse."

In between were the silent years, from which the students are awakening. They may find the Right, vide Mr. Nixon, far more responsive than the old Left.

The Halls Of Ivy

The following Warren students graduated on Saturday, June 29, from Jamestown Business College, in a class of 109: Rebecca Ahlquist, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. F. Walter Ahlquist of 11 Pine Boulevard; Richard Calla, son of Mrs. Dolores Calla of 23 1/2 Prospect street; Judith Giglotti, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Sam Giglotti of 640 Pleasant drive; Dianne Nollinger, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Earle A. Engaged for this summer in his field for the government in Alaska, Mr. Mickelson will pursue studies for his Master's degree at the University of Michigan, Ann Arbor, Mich., beginning this fall.

William Shaffer, son of Mr. and Mrs. John J. Shaffer of 620 Conewango ave., is among 186 students of the University of Wisconsin at Madison and the University's Centers who are winners this year of membership in Phi Eta Sigma, national scholastic honor society for freshmen men at the University.

Of the total, 40 are freshmen men at University of Wisconsin Centers across the state.

Each semester pledges for this honor society are selected from the freshman class on the basis of scholastic achievement. Candidates must have earned a grade point average of 3.5 or better in their first semester of first year of studies. An average of 4 points per credit of study taken in the University would mean a perfect scholastic record.

Couple Pledge Vows Saturday In The First Baptist Church

The First Baptist Church was the setting for the marriage on Saturday, July 6, at 3 p. m. of Malou Jean O'Donnell and Gary Robert Jordan. The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ralph C. O'Donnell of Hemlock Trailer Court, and the groom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Jordan of 4 Cobham Park road.

The pastor of the church, the Rev. H. Faulkner, read the double ring wedding rites in the presence of one hundred and twenty-five guests. Altar decorations included two vases of gladioli with pompons and four vases of greenery. Wedding music was provided by Miss Shirley Ann Johnson.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a gown of white silk organza over a tulle tulle with a full skirt. Peau d'ange lace, etched with iridescents and baroque pearls formed the empire bodice fashioned with a scalloped jewel neckline and bell sleeves. The gathered back fullness swept from a multi-looped bow to chapel length with a spray of the jeweled lace accenting the train and front of the slim skirt.

Her bouffant veil of English pure silk illusion was caught to a cluster of organza roses and petals with pearl embroidered lace accents. She carried a formal cascade of miniature white carnations with a white orchid in the center.

Mary Bero, sister of the bride, was the matron of honor, in a costume of blue and carried cascades of white carnations tipped in blue and baby's breath. A matching blue petal cluster headpiece secured the butterfly veil. Sue Plonsky, Patti Nelson, bridesmaids, were gowned similarly in spring blue ensembles, matching petal cluster headpieces with butterfly veils and carried cascades of baby's breath and white carnations tipped in blue. The flower girl was Mistress Peggy Jordan, niece of the groom, in a frock similar to those of the adult attendants. She carried a basket of white carnations tipped in blue.

Hal Knapp was the best man, and ushers were Bill Anderson, Gary O'Donnell, brother of the bride.

The mother of the bride wore a blue dress ensemble with lace overcoat and the mother of the groom was in a yellow lace ensemble with overcoat. Both had corsages of white orchids. Mrs. Mary Newine, Mrs. C. A. Jordan, grandmothers, and Mrs. Edward Jordan of Niagara Falls, great-grandmother, all had corsages of red sweetheart roses.

A reception followed the wedding service with one hundred and twenty-five attending in the Glade Fire Hall. Decorations were carried out in a blue and white color scheme and flowers, greenery and wedding bells were placed throughout the hall.

Master and Mistress of ceremonies were Hal Knapp and Mary Bero. Aides were Miss Sandi Ceruola, Miss Cathie Nelson, Miss Sharon Salamon, Miss Linda Peterson.

For a trip to the Western Coast, the bride traveled in a pink crepe A-line dress with white accessories, a white orchid corsage from her bridal bouquet. Mr. and Mrs. Jordan will reside at 301 Park street.

The bride is a 1968 graduate of Warren Area High School. The groom is a 1967 graduate of Warren Area High School, and is presently employed by Erie Tank and Coating Company, Erie.

Pre-nuptial affairs were given by Mrs. Mary Bero, Miss Dawn O'Donnell, Miss Donna O'Donnell, Miss Ruth Kohler. The rehearsal dinner was given at the home of the groom's parents.

Out of town guests attended from New York State, Indiana, Florida and Pennsylvania.

Neatness Counts

"Tricks of the trade" in the world of jet travel include an extra pair of stockings for each stewardess, carried in purse or tote bag. A working girl's desk drawer has a corner for emergencies and that includes fresh make-up when something special is on the calendar after working hours.

Borrow tricks from the women whose business it is to look lovely. Traveling in a car on a long trip, attending a convention with your husband or simply very busy at home are reasons enough to keep supplies to gether, ready for a quick beauty pick-up.

Invest a small sum in a good mirror, a magnifying one if you need it. Keep it in a basket or box with other necessary beauty items.

Answers Your Problems

DEAR ANN LANDERS: I was especially interested in your reply to the mother whose six-year-old insisted on dragging her faded, worn-out blanket everywhere. You said, "Leave her alone. She'll give it up when she's ready. I've never heard of a child taking a baby blanket on a honeymoon."

Well, Ann, stick around for a few more years and you might hear of it. Our son Johnny is 15. His baby blanket fell apart years ago (he dragged it around until there was nothing left). Then he developed a dandy substitute. Johnny twists the corners of his bedsheets into sharp little peaks and of course the sheets wear out in no time at all.

I am not complaining because apparently this twisting has filled an emotional need. Johnny has always been a wonderful son, a fine student, mechanically inclined and good in athletics. He is a thoughtful boy and never caused us any trouble. Perhaps letting him drag his blanket all those years and now twisting the sheets have given him the satisfaction other kids find in drag racing and breaking the law for "kicks."

If, when Johnny marries, he wants a baby blanket to take on his honeymoon, I'll buy him one. — WOULD'N'T TRADE

DEAR WOULD'N'T: Your insight and wisdom have paid off. I wish more parents had it. Too often children are nagged about trivial things which should be ignored—like dragging blankets around and twisting sheets.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: Your column on free love is additional proof that you always side with the women. Here's how it looks from a male point of view.

I am 30 years of age, a confirmed bachelor who never once mentioned marriage to a woman. I've had 32 affairs in the last three years and four turn-downs. I'm not handsome, not rich, not a great talker and I never made an active pitch in my life. My record of conquests is proof that American women are the most aggressive, sex-hungry females in the world. When I lived in Europe I didn't get one-third the propositions I get in California. Now what do you say? — TRANSATLANTIC

DEAR TRANS: I say horsefeathers. If you never made a pitch in your life, how come the turn-downs? Your record proves only one thing — any dame can have an affair if she sets her standards low enough.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: I read with interest the letter from the legal secretary who refused to notarize papers unless she had seen the parties sign.

Good for her. I, too, am inflexible in this regard — so inflexible, in fact, that I've been referred to as "that screwball." But it paid off.

Recently we handled a deed. I notarized the signatures of all five heirs. A lawyer of questionable character stated that all five signatures had been affixed by one person. He even lined up a phony handwriting "expert" to support his charges. The fool was laughed out of sight. Several witnesses said, "That screwball would never notarize a signature she didn't witness with her own eyes" — and that ended it. — UTICA, N. Y.

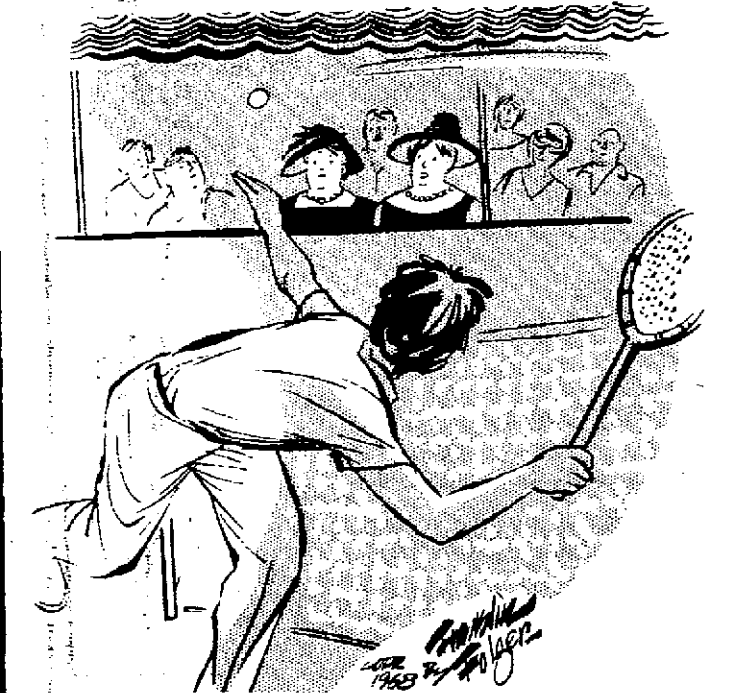

DEAR U.: How refreshing to find someone who sticks to the rules even in the face of ridicule. There is so much compromising, bending and breaking these days, I doff my bonnet to you for setting a fine example.

Is alcoholism a disease? How can the alcoholic be treated? Is there a cure? Read the booklet "Alcoholism — Hope and Help," by Ann Landers. Enclose 35 cents in coin with your request and a long, stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Ann Landers will be glad to help you with your problems. Send them to her in care of this newspaper, enclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

SAUERBRATEN MEAT BALLS

1 pound ground beef
3/4 cup soft bread crumbs
1/4 cup finely chopped onion
2 tablespoons bottled lemon juice
2 tablespoons water
1/2 teaspoon salt
Dash pepper
2 1/4 cups water
3 beef bouillon cubes
1/2 cup brown sugar
1/4 cup dark seedless raisins
1/4 cup bottled lemon juice
3/4 cup gingersnap crumbs
1 package (8 ounces) noodles
1 teaspoon poppy seeds
Combine meat, bread crumbs, onion, 2 tablespoons bottled lemon juice, 2 tablespoons water, salt and pepper. Shape into 1-inch balls. Brown meat balls in small amount of hot fat. Remove meat balls; add 2 1/4 cups water to drippings and bring to a boil; stir in bouillon cubes, sugar, raisins, 1/4 cup bottled lemon juice and gingersnap crumbs. Add meat balls; cook uncovered over low heat 10 minutes. Turn meat balls, spooning sauce over; cook 5 minutes, stirring occasionally. Cook noodles according to package directions. Drain and top noodles with poppy seeds. Serve meat balls and sauce over noodles. Makes 5 to 6 servings.

IF YOU have a number of matted nylon stockings around, and who hasn't, you can get them all the same color. Boil them slowly for about 15 minutes in enough water to cover. Allow to cool in the pan. Rinse and hang to dry.

If the Shoe Fits

James R. Valone

Footsaver Education
CAN A TOE WHICH OVERLAPS ANOTHER BE CORRECTED?
The correction of a deformity is outside the province of shoe men. Our goal is to prevent the trouble by choosing well-designed shoes, fitting them carefully and urging parents to avail themselves of frequent size checkups.
It would seem that crooked toes should be easier to straighten than irregular teeth and everyone knows what wonderful work is being done these days in orthodontia. The drawback to "ortho-toe-zia" (if there were a science of toe straightening) is that we don't have to look at crooked toes every time a child opens his mouth so there are few parents who become concerned! Another drawback would be the nuisance factor. Any device that would correct toe growth would probably be painful to walk on and so could be worn only at night.

Hints From Heloise

DEAR HELOISE:

Here's one for the fellows. If any of you have a knitted pullover shirt with two buttons in front, try putting it on BACKWARDS and buttoning it in the back.

With your coat on, you'll have a turtle neck sweater that is now the latest style! Harry M. Cohen

DEAR HELOISE:

We are in eighth grade and taking home economics. Recently when we made a quick bread loaf, our teacher gave us a hint.

Before the bread is put in the oven, put a lengthwise hollow down the middle. This prevents the loaf from rising too high in the center which causes excess cracking.

The bread will turn out rounder and easier to cut. L and H

LETTER OF LAUGHTER

DEAR HELOISE: If you have trouble overcoming inertia in order to accomplish household repairs, or to hire others to do them for you, just imagine that your house will have to be put up for sale ($$$$?) and that you will have to move SOON! Helpful

DEAR HELOISE:

I have found a way to simplify the procedure of moving buttons over to ease or tighten a garment.

As it is difficult to position the buttons to exactly the places I want them, I've solved this by incorporating large safety pins.

I simply put the pins where I think the button should be moved. Pin it in vertically so it will slip through the buttonhole like a button and hold.

I can then try on the garment.

ment with all the pins slipped through the buttonholes, see how it will fall, raise my arms and see exactly how the garment will fit with the buttons in that position.

It saves the wasted time and effort one experiences in setting over the buttons and finding that they should have been set over another fraction of an inch.

Cadillac

Cadillac Motor Car Division

This is the most spirited luxury car of all time, which doesn't interfere in the slightest with its being the most luxurious.

The year's most surprising driving experience is yours for the asking. We call it a "Command Performance," and it begins the minute you take your seat in a 1968 Cadillac.

This year, our 472 V 8 engine introduced a new level of performance to luxury motoring. The latest production V 8 ever to power a passenger car, delivers performance that is smooth, quiet and highly responsive—performance to fully match Cadillac's stature.

With its graceful styling, tasteful interior decor and thoughtful driving conveniences, this is the most luxurious Cadillac of all time. Along with unburned, painstaking craftsmanship, these qualities assure the matchless value and pride of ownership for which Cadillac has long been renowned. Your authorized Cadillac dealer will gladly stage a "Command Performance" test drive at your convenience. His selection of models is now at its best, so contact him this week.

Taxes Force Beatles Into Big Businessmen

LONDON (AP)—The tax collector has turned the Beatles into big businessmen.

"Our accountant told us 'You've either got to give it to the government, or expand,'" says the singers' managing director, Neil Aspinall.

Since corporation taxes are lower than the 95 per cent-plus personal taxes that folks in the Beatles' brackets must pay, they chose expansion.

Under what they punningly call Applecore—officially Apple Corp.—they are going into clothes, music publishing and records, movies and electronics.

Since Christmas they have established companies in the United States, Japan, France, Germany, Holland, Italy, Switzerland, Canada and Australia. At present these branches handle only records, but they probably will be franchised to take on other Apple products.

Aspinall says some of the profits will go to a Beatles foundation for the arts: "We haven't found a name for it yet, but plans are on paper."

The Beatles made their last public appearance in San Francisco in 1966.

"That isn't to say they won't ever make another public appearance," their manager explained. "But if they do, it won't be as four figures alone on the stage before a crowd of thousands. You lose contact with the audience that way. If they appear again, they'd like to limit audiences to no more than 400, and maybe there'd be an orchestra."

They are still cutting a few discs, and still topping the

Sato Claims Victory Vote Of Confidence

TOKYO (AP)—Prime Minister Eisaku Sato said Monday he considers his Liberal-Democratic party's victory in Sunday's upper house election a vote of confidence in his government and his pro-Western policies.

Sato made the statement after still incomplete election returns assured his party of a comfortable majority in the 250-member upper house. The Liberal Democrats also have a large majority in the lower house.

Half of 125 of the six-year term upper house seats are at stake in elections every third year. The election Sunday included one extra seat to fill a vacancy left by death.

Gains were registered by the Buddhist Komei—clean government—party, the moderate Democratic Socialist party and the Japan Communist party, all at the expense of the Socialist party, the leading opposition party, which strongly opposed in campaign speeches Sato's pro-Western policies.

With the outcome of eight of the national constituency seats still undecided, the Liberal Democrats won 68 seats. With 68 unexpired seats, they now have a total of 136, compared with their present 139.

The Socialists won 22 seats. This added to their 37 unexpired seats gave them a total of 59, compared with their present 73.

The Komei party, which had 11 unexpired seats, took 13, giving them a total of 24 or four more than their present total.

The Democratic Socialists won six seats. This, added to their three unexpired seats, gives them a total of nine seats, three more than their present six.

The Communists, who had three unexpired seats, gained four to give them a total of seven, compared with their present total of four.

Independents won five seats, compared with their pre-election strength of three.

All-Stars Play at Astrodome; Medwick Will Throw Out 1st Ball

HOUSTON (AP) — It will be San Francisco's Willie Mays leading off in his familiar center field spot when the National League All-Stars face the American League at the Astrodome Tuesday night.

About the only thing more familiar than Mays in center field would be Don Drysdale as the NL's starting pitcher and the Americans will see that too.

Drysdale, the Los Angeles Dodgers' strong-armed right-hander, will be making his fifth All-Star start, tying the record set by Robin Roberts of the Philadelphia Phillies and Lefty Gomez of the New York Yankees.

"He's a pretty good one to start with," grinned Red Schoendienst of the St. Louis Cardinals, manager of the National League.

Drysdale, 10-5, with a 1.37 earned run average, set a record with 58 2-3 consecutive scoreless innings earlier this season. He's the most rested man on the NL staff, having last worked Friday night.

Mays, who has led off in four All-Star games before and opened the 1965 classic with a home run, moved into the starting line-up when Cincinnati's Pete Rose suffered a broken right thumb. Rose's spot on the team was filled by Billy Williams of the Chicago Cubs.

Schoendienst had planned to start his own Curt Flood in center field but that changed when Rose got hurt.

"I went to Flood and told him Willie was starting and that now I had two good center fielders," said Schoendienst. "Flood said, 'I'll play left, he's been in center longer than I have.'"

Schoendienst said he was unsure who would follow Drysdale but that both his own Bob Gibson and San Francisco's Juan Marichal would likely see action.

Boston's Dick Williams, manager of the American League team, chose right-hander Luis Tiant of Cleveland as his starter. Tiant, making his first All-Star appearance, will be working with just one day of rest. He pitched six innings Sunday.

Tiant, 14-5, with a 1.24 ERA, has a statistical edge on Drysdale and will be facing a line-up dominated by right-handed batters.

Following Mays, Schoendienst listed Flood in left field, San Francisco's Willie McCovey at first base, Hank Aaron of Atlanta in right field, Chicago's Ron Santo at third base, Tommy Helms of Cincinnati at second base, catcher Jerry Grote of New York, Chicago shortstop Don Kessinger and Drysdale.

Only McCovey and Kessinger, a switch hitter, will bat left.

Williams said he felt Tiant could come back strong in spite of the short rest. "A pitcher normally throws on the sidelines on his second day off anyway," he said. "He's a hard thrower and I like him a lot. We don't have any name guys like the National League."

Like Schoendienst, Williams said he was undecided on who would follow Tiant. All seven AL pitchers worked either Saturday or Sunday.

Williams' starting line-up listed California's Jim Fregosi leading off and playing shortstop. Second baseman Rod Carew of Minnesota bats second followed by Boston's Carl Yastrzemski in center field, Frank Howard of Washington in right, Detroit's Willie Horton in left, Harmon Killebrew of Minnesota at first base, Detroit catcher Bill Freehan, Baltimore's Brooks Robinson at third base and Tiant.

Only Carew and Yastrzemski will bat left against Drysdale.

The American League worked out in the Astrodome's carpeted turf Monday at the suggestion of league president Joe Cronin.

The NL has won nine of the last 10 games and holds a 20-17 over-all edge after trailing at one time 12-5.

Joe Medwick, latest member of the Hall of Fame, will toss out the first ball for the game scheduled to start at 8:15 p.m., EDT. The classic will be nationally televised by NBC.

Rose Out For 3 Weeks

CINCINNATI (AP) — Pete Rose, Cincinnati's leading batter, was placed on the disabled list Monday for a fractured thumb and will not return to the line-up for at least 21 days, the Reds announced.

Rose, who is batting .329 and led the league in hitting early in the season, injured his left thumb as he dove for a ball in Cincinnati's game Saturday night with Los Angeles.

The injury also forces him to miss the All-Star game Tuesday night for which he received more votes than any other player in the National League.

Top Hitters Ride Bench

HOUSTON (AP) — The major leagues' leading hitters will be on the bench at the start of the All-Star game Tuesday night.

Matty Alou of Pittsburgh, batting .344 and Ken Harrelson of Boston, batting .307, both were chosen by managers Red Schoendienst and Dick Williams as replacements on the 25-man squad.

Stafford and Penecale Share Lead in Pa. Open

PITTSBURGH (AP) — Hot-putting Roland Stafford and late-charging Sam Penecale fired two-under-par 69s Monday to share a slim first round lead in the 52nd Pennsylvania Open golf championship.

Stafford, of nearby Verona, had nine one-putt greens—six of them for birdies—while Penecale of Philadelphia birdied three of the last five holes to catch him.

They were a stroke in front of Tripp O'Donnell, a 23-year-old amateur from Pottstown, and two-time winner Skee Riegel of Doylestown, who birdied the first three holes and four of the first five.

No other players in the field of 135 were able to shatter the par 71 over the 6,376-yard Green Oaks Country Club in Verona.

But four players — Andy Borovich of Brackenridge, Ken Stear of Doylestown, Herky Smith of Verona and amateur Gene Farrell of Penn Hills—scored par 71s and were just two shots off the pace.

Penecale, one of the last players to start, sank putts of eight and four feet to birdie the 14th and 18th holes and birdied the par five 15th after reaching the green in two. He scored 36-33.

Stafford, who can see his home just across the Allegheny River from the golf course, birdied four of the first seven holes and made the turn with only 12 putts. He had three bogeys on the back nine, but still came in with 33-36. Par is 36-35.

O'Donnell said he was hitting his long putts real well and making all the short ones.

The tournament concludes with 18 holes Tuesday.

Wilt's Announcement Planned for Today

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Press conferences will be held simultaneously in Los Angeles and Philadelphia Tuesday to announce what has been known for days—the trade of basketball star Wilt Chamberlain, the Associated Press learned Monday.

The Associated Press reported last Friday that the 7-foot-1 center had been dealt to the Los Angeles Lakers by the Philadelphia 76ers for three players—Darrall Imhoff, Archie Clark and Jerry Chambers—and cash.

Although the National Basketball Association trade was consummated as early as last week—if not earlier—the announcement was held up because of the difficulty the clubs had in signing some of the players.

Jack Ramsay, the 76ers' general manager for three years who is to replace the resigned

Alex Hannum as coach, will be at the Philadelphia press conference.

However, it was learned the announcement of Ramsay's appointment will be held up a while to give the Chamberlain deal maximum news coverage. Chamberlain will probably be at the Los Angeles conference with Laker officials.

It was learned that the Lakers had difficulty in putting the big center's signature on a pact. He made a salary in the neighborhood of $250,000 last year.

Clark, an outstanding player who averaged 20 points a game last year and could be the swiftest guard in the NBA, was said to be holding out for a bundle of cash too.

He made huge salary demands on the Lakers last year—reportedly asking for $60,000—and apparently was seeking a raise from his new owners.

NFL Stalemate Continues

Players Ask Bigger Pension; Owners Meeting Called

CHICAGO (AP)—Art Modell, owner of the Cleveland Browns and president of the National Football League, said Monday night that "pro football faces a long and disastrous strike" and called for a full meeting of owners in Chicago Tuesday to formulate plans for the 1968 season.

Modell's statement came after the NFL Players' Association said it had failed to resolve its differences over a pension dispute and left day-long sessions still in the air.

All negotiators departed and were unavailable for further comment.

A spokesman for the association said negotiations had broken down.

A players' statement on their stand never was forwarded to the owners' negotiating committee.

It was read to the committee by newsmen after which this statement was issued by Modell:

"Despite having granted 21 demands of the players' union, pro football faces a long and disastrous strike on the sole issue of granting pension benefits in 1968 to players who on the average will not be eligible to receive such benefits until the year 2,000.

"The union's leaders have taken the position even though the owners explained to them that they cannot conclude such an agreement until the merger with the American Football League is completed and offered in addition a formula guaranteeing that no players in 1968 and 1969 will have any additional pension benefits because negotiations may not be concluded until 1970."

Modell refused to say a strike actually was on and preferred to call it an impasse between the two groups.

The players' group, headed by John Gordy of the Detroit Lions, issued a statement that, "We are ready, willing and able to meet with the owners at any time to resolve the issues."

The center of the dispute is additional pension funds which the players are demanding immediately and the owners want to hold off until 1970.

"Our coaches are here and our squad will assemble Thursday and begin workouts Friday. We'll fulfill our end of the contract, and we hope professional football will too."

JOHN F. (JACK) SHAW

Jack Shaw Joins Marshall

A former member of the Warren Area High School faculty, John F. (Jack) Shaw, who in 1966 coached his team to the Pennsylvania State Championship Cross Country, will assume the post of physical education instructor Sept. 1 at Marshall University in Huntington, W. Va.

Shaw was a staff member at WAHS from 1963 until 1967 when he left Warren to become a graduate student and track coach at Western Michigan University where he earned his masters. He was granted his BS degree by Muskingum College in Ohio.

Rob Pena, Philly; Man with Power

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Long-suffering Philadelphia Phillies fans have watched numerous good-field, no-hit shortstops play down through the years. Until this season, that is.

Suddenly a 5-foot-7 powerpack — Roberto Cesar Pena — has opened everyone's eyes with his aggressive bat.

The Dominican Republic native is not an outstanding fielder, but he makes the plays. More important, however, is his batting average which has jumped to .309, tops among the Phillies.

Pena's performance is all the more dramatic because he wasn't even on the Phillies' roster at the start of the season.

He had been in the minors for eight years and was with San Diego of the Pacific Coast League when he recalled April 26 to fill a gap left when the veteran Bobby Wine was injured.

Since then, the 28-year-old Pena has lifted his average and driven in many key runs.

Bob Skinner, the Phillies' new manager who was also at San Diego last year with Pena, is not surprised at his performance.

"He gets the job done," said Skinner Monday. "He's an all-around player who knows how the game should be played. He has an aggressive bat — fights the heck out of pitchers."

Pena originally was discovered by the Pittsburgh Pirates, who signed him in 1960.

He later was in the Chicago Cub organization, and had brief major league trials in 1965 and 1966.

He was drafted by the Phillies in November, 1966, "simply because we needed a Triple-A shortstop for San Diego," explained farm director Paul Owens.

Pena started out slowly under Manager Gene Mauch, making five errors in 11 games and hitting .210. Reunited with Skinner, when Mauch was fired, he went on a batting spurge.

Style-Way Out

The Style Shop was way-out last night as Community Consumer triumphed over the Style squad 15-6. The win was hurled by Chris Lopez with Tim Daley charged for the loss. Jay Rowan clubbed a triple for the win while Lopez added two doubles and Brent Wood snagged one two-bagger. Daley gave the losers a double.

Plumbing Holds Out

Webster Heating and Plumbing held out last night against the 4-L's 10-3. Dean Sumner picked up the win while John Neese suffered the loss. Danny Johnson smashed a homer for the win while Steve Cable and Sumner each cracked a double. Neese snagged a two-bagger for the losers while Craig Swanson rapped a triple.

VFW Triumphs 11-4

Tidioute VFW triumphed over Engstrom's Clothing of Youngsville 11-4 last night. Lonnie Stiles hurled the win while Todd Olsen suffered the loss. Jim Yucha bombed a double and triple for the win while John Vincent added a two-bagger.

Lewis Market Wins

Lewis Market won over Speidel-Lesser last night 9-1. Scott Arzner hurled the win while Tom Dunn suffered the loss. Mike Suppa, Bill Gheres, and John Ord all contributed to the win with RBIs. Randy Mine-weaser added a double to the victory.

Betts Bag Elks

Betts bagged the Elks in intermediate play last night 9-1. Mark Salerno hurled the win for Betts while Mike Tucker suffered the loss. Doubles were clubbed for the winners by Salerno and Tom Regina.

Taylor Fits Victory

Taylor Pharmacy fitted a victory into their record last night by downing Barnhart and Davis 5-2. Denny Munksgard hurled the win while Norm Miosi suffered the loss. Clay Larson and Tom Hagberg cracked doubles for the win while Jay Duell snagged a two-bagger for Barnhart.

Soda Mineral Wins First of Season

By J. D. PIRILLO

"It's been a long time coming, but well worth the wait." Those were the words of Soda Mineral manager Nick Tomasoni last night after his team captured a 6-2 thriller from the Sons of Italy in eleven innings.

It took the Mets up until the last night of their first half and seven losses under their belt before they struck pay-dirt. Dean Stewart well deserved the win in chucking the entire contest with just five hits going the opposition's way. After allowing two runs the first inning, he dealt the home team nothing but goose eggs for the remaining ten frames.

Tom Kibbey absorbed the loss for the Palsano's, as he completed the game with 13 hits charged against him, four in the fatal 11th. The loss was Kibbey's third of the season in five decisions.

The Sons started out the game with a base knock by Jim Falvo. Danny Suppa followed up with a silencing triple to short right field for a RBI. Joe Font boosted the score to a 2-0 margin on another single.

This is the way things drifted until the top of the fourth inning. "Morty" Steele led off the frame with a sharply stroked single to right. He advanced to third on Dan O'Neill's first hit of the night. Steve Tundell knotted up the ole ball game with a two-run double to right.

Both teams stood their ground on the field in strictly a defensive gesture for the next six innings. On a couple of occasions both squads put men in scoring position, but in one way or another nothing panned out.

When Kibbey gave up a free pass to Don Corey the trouble started to brew. Dan O'Neill delivered a batted in on a fly, single to right. His brother, Ed chipped in with a sing and the second run of the inning crossed the dish. Two field errors and another couple of base hits sent the Palsano's packing for home.

Tomorrow night Nichol will try and capture the first half crown when they host the Better Black Knights at 8 p.m. Either a win in this game or a Beveridge loss to the Sons of Italy in the front game means the Tarantulas are in.

There will be an important meeting tonight of the City League at the Sons of Italy hall at 8 o'clock sharp. All interested persons are welcome to attend.

Gold and Scarletts Win In Summer Basketball

Before a surprisingly fine turnout at Beatty Field last night, two more games were played in the newly formed summer recreational basketball league. The games were played under perfect weather conditions and the crowd seemed to enjoy both contests.

In the opener, the Golds coached by former Warren resident Gail Nelson turned on the steam after a tight first quarter and routed the Blacks of Bill Mervine 79-46. Paced by the big three of Eddie O'Neill, Don Lyle, and Craig Young they outscored their rivals 19-9 in the second stanza and from that point on the outcome of the game appeared never in doubt. The Blacks' fine playmaker Dan Krumm was the high scorer in the contest with 26, while O'Neill, Lyle, and Young had 23, 21 and 16 respectively.

Although winning by a 23 point margin in the nightcap the second game was actually much closer and the final score was not a true picture of the game itself. The Scarletts of Bob Arnold, paced by the scoring of Rob Lorange and Rick Freeburg and the rebounding of the 6'4" sophomore Freeburg, gradually pulled away in the final minutes of the third quarter and then put the icing on the cake with an 18-4 fourth quarter advantage. Both Lorange and Freeburg notched 23 while the Blues, coached by Bob Koebley were led by Larry Spence with 21.

Another doubleheader will be played next Monday evening with the opener to begin at 6:45 p.m. The games are open to the public free and there is no question the fine turnout last night was encouraging to the boys.

NEW YORK (AP) — The owner of Roquepine, France's queen of the world trotters, expressed confidence Monday that she will win the $100,000 Roosevelt International Trot for the second straight year Saturday night. Henri Levesque made his comment at a drawing of post positions on the site of the Statue of Liberty on Liberty Island in New York Harbor. "The mare never took a bad step this morning," Levesque said through an interpreter in scoffing at reports his world renowned mare had suffered leg trouble. "She is in good condition and I am very confident."

UNDER IDEAL CONDITIONS

HOUSTON — No one will have to concern himself with the weather during the All-Star Game at the Astrodome Tuesday night. The lighting system will be bright and even; the temperature will be 72 degrees and the wind velocity will be a gentle one mile an hour. Those all-stars who survived last year's horror will welcome the change.

That game was perpetrated at Anaheim in California, not far from Disneyland which obviously lent a few fantasies for the occasion. It began at 4:15 p.m., Pacific Coast Time, in order to trap a huge television audience. However, the twilight setting was to play treacherous tricks on the ballplayers. Jim Fregosi of the hometown Angels warned everyone in advance but not enough.

"It's the toughest time of day in our ball park," said the starting shortstop for the American League. "Unfamiliar shadows come in at all angles and the fielders will have trouble following the flight of the ball."

His sympathy for the fielders was wasted. They didn't make an error. But the hitters? Mama Mia! When they saw the ball, it had to be by accident, because the world's finest ballplayers set the ignominious record of 30 strikeouts, 13 by the National League swingers and 17 by the even more futile flailers from the American League.

These guys didn't even improve with practice, inasmuch as they had to go the marathon distance of 15 innings before settling the issue. It was strictly an all-or-nothing affair. Richie Allen of the Phils hit a solo homer for the Nationals in the second inning. Brooks Robinson of the Orioles matched it in the sixth and then Tony Perez of the Reds muscled one over the fence in the 15th to provide a 2-1 victory for the Nationals.

It must be presumed that Perez was destined for his granite role. When he checked into his hotel at midnight before the game, along with his wife and baby, reservations had been snafued and not a regular room was available. The harried hotel manager finally solved the problem.

"Be our guest in the Presidential Suite," he said.

So Perez responded to such regal treatment in a regal manner. He smote the game-winning homer.

The length of the fray caused consternation in Radio City. An ultra-special special, the life story of Nikita Khrushchev, had been scheduled to emanate from New York at 10 p.m.

But the diamond spectacular ran overtime for the better part of an hour. When Perez finally blasted his home run, Dick Young, a press box wit, pretended to make a suitable television announcement. Intoned he:

"We now switch you to Moscow where Nikita Khrushchev is already in exile." No one in Anaheim ever did know whether or not Carson got on the airwaves. Not even the owls would have stayed up that late.

One of the more curious aspects of last year's game rested not only with the 30 strikeouts but with the fact that only two bases on balls were issued. The paucity of walks has to be as unbelievable as the multiplicity of strikeouts.

The Nationals used seven pitchers, the Americans five. Was each of these a Dead-Eye Dick who threw only strikes? Or was Ed Runge, the plate umpire, stricken by the same kind of blindness that obviously had befallen the batters? Or did he use an elastic strike zone that was no more realistic than the papier mache gimmicks at neighboring Disneyland?

The rival managers in Houston on Tuesday will be Dick Williams of the Red Sox and Red Schoendienst of the Cardinals. Williams never played in an All Star Game while Schoendienst was the hero of one in Chicago in 1950. His home run in the 14th won for the Nationals. I remember writing, tongue in cheek, that Burt Shotton, his manager, had ordered the home run. An indignant reader took the flippancy too literally and penned a letter of complaint.

"No manager ever orders a batter to hit a home run," he wrote.

Oh, yeah? In 1955 the Reds came into the next-to-last game of the season with a team total of 220 homers, one short of the New York Giant record. In the ninth inning manager Birdie Tebbetts beckoned Smoky Burgess, his midjet musclemen, from the corner of the bench.

"Smoky," he said, "I want you to pinch-hit a home run."

"Yes, sir," said Smoky.

"I don't want a single, a double or a triple," said Birdie. "I'm ordering you to hit a home run."

"Yes, sir," said Smoky.

So he did. It tied the record. Smoky almost had another on the final day but a gale blowing in from Chicago's lakefront turned it into a double off the wall.

There will be no gales in the Astrodome, no false sunlight, no tricky shadows. If nothing else, the weather conditions will be perfect.

Steelers Start Training Friday; Coach Austin Predicts Improvement

PITTSBURGH (AP) — The Pittsburgh Steelers are scheduled to move into training camp Friday with Coach Bill Austin confidently predicting improvement behind an unproven quarterback.

A threatened strike by National Football League players may alter plans, but Austin eagerly is awaiting the opening.

"I think we are vastly improved and I'm looking forward to the season very enthusiastically," he says. "I know people in Pittsburgh have heard that from our coaches before but . . . I think we have the kind of people who can win."

The Steelers will train for the second straight year at St. Vincent College in Latrobe, about 40 miles east of here.

Austin, who has a 9-17-2 record for two years, leaves little doubt he expects the Steelers to be a winner whether Ken Nix or Dick Shiner eventually gets the quarterback nod.

Nix, a second-year man from Texas Christian who learned while playing most of last year, has the edge on Shiner, acquired in a trade from Cleveland. To get Shiner, the Steelers parted with the man Nix replaced, knee troubled Bill Nelson.

"I think he (Nix) can carry the football club," Austin said. "He played well enough to win more games than he did last year."

The Steelers won only four games last year, one less than in 1966, although they beat both Detroit and Green Bay in the last three weeks. Pittsburgh, which never has won a division title, has had only eight winning seasons in 35 years.

But Austin, who's on the final year of a three-year contract, believes his rebuilding program is starting to show some results. Only three players who were starters at the end of last year were here before Austin came two years ago.

Though they finished last in the Century Division of the Eastern Conference last season, the Steelers go into camp largely a

International Parent Group To Elect Officers

JAMESTOWN, N.Y. — Officers will be elected and committees set up at a meeting of the International Parents Organization (IPO) at 8 p.m. Friday, July 12, in the W.C.A. Hospital auditorium.

The first business for the group will be to affiliate with the Alexander Graham Bell Association, a branch of which now exists at the hospital.

Other groups concerned with providing education for the physically handicapped are invited. The group is primarily concerned with hard of hearing children.

At a June meeting of the organization, Richard O. Evans, chairman of the Chautauque County Board of Supervisors, explained laws governing the handicapped and the eligibility of parents under Medicaid law.

At a question and answer period, parents argue that "under Medicaid, the entire family has to be included and this made it possible for one family who had extremely high expenses due to a catastrophic illness, to not receive help from Medicaid, whereas another family which has no such illness, and less medical expense, could receive aid because they have more children."

Other grievances were noted and Mr. Evans asked parents to write their complaints to him and he would attempt to assist in solving their problems.

Bradford EUB Church Will Not Join Methodists

BRADFORD — The dissenting Sawyer Evangelical United Brethren Church has refused to allow a United Methodist Minister to conduct its services and will ask him to leave if he turns up.

This is the latest step in their protest against what they say is a "too liberal" national merger between the EUB and the Methodists.

Sawyer Church Council member Dr. Andrew Johnson said that one of the main differences revolves around the United Methodists' tolerance of members smoking and drinking, and of civil disobedience in specific cases.

At a church meeting July 1, 84 people voted against the merger, while 42 were in favor of accepting the new doctrine. A fresh constitution was formed under the title of The Evangelical Congregational Church of Sawyer. No officers voted against this action so the administration is unchanged until the next election.

The Rev. Harold A. Burdick, present pastor, will continue to conduct church services. The United Methodist minister appointed by the parent body, the Rev. Paul H. Whitcomb, pastor of Rew, has been told not to take up the post.

Burdick said on Thursday evening: "Our attorney sent Whitcomb a letter, explaining that there was nothing personal in the decision. He didn't turn up last Sunday, and if he comes next week, we would ask him not to come in."

"If he did enter the church, we would stop and wait until he left, then carry on," he added. "I told the United Methodists I wouldn't leave because the church didn't want me to go. We are waiting to see what they are going to do now; we expect them to take us to court, if they win and get the church building, we will leave and worship elsewhere."

He said that $92,000 had been invested in the Sawyer Church in the last six or seven years and they felt it unfair to be forced into an "unwanted liberal movement," into which other churches would soon be included.

Dr. Johnson said: "We have refused to have a United Methodist minister and have informed the United Methodist Church of our action."

"They will probably serve an injunction to get our minister out of the church," he continued. "There is nothing in the church discipline whereby we can make a settlement over the building, so we are going to stay until they negotiate through civil law."

The dispute at Sawyer is one of several in the Bradford area over the same type of problem. Methodist Bishop J. Gordon Howard of Pittsburgh declined to comment.

Police Seek Identity Of Mystery Woman

ERIE — A major Midwest newspaper has joined the Erie police and an area newspaper in seeking to answer the question, "Who is Janice White?"

The city editor and police reporter of the St. Louis Globe-Democrat, St. Louis' major metropolitan newspaper, said in a telephone conversation Sunday night that they were "highly interested" in the mystery woman.

The middle-aged woman, currently in the St. Vincent Hospital psychiatric unit, was found by Erie police last Thursday night in a "dazed state" near West 10th and Myrtle streets. She told officers that she was "Mae Gaylord," but it was later determined that the woman had been staying at the Richmond Hotel under the name of Janice White, 2163 Root Road, St. Louis. No identification was found in the woman's purse or hotel room.

Since that time, Det. Sgts. Edward Respekt and Thomas Stanton have been conducting an investigation, termed one of the most puzzling of their careers. Working under Det. Lt. Charles McCurdy, they have contacted law enforcement agencies in Buffalo, New York City, and St. Louis.

The woman, committed to St. Vincent Hospital early Thursday night on a court order from Judge Edward Carney, has spoken "several" words, according to Stanton and Respekt. Saturday she called out, "Kim." Also on Saturday, she called one of the nurses "Mary."

A white uniform and white shoes, indicating possibly that she earns her living as a waitress, were found in her hotel room Saturday night.

Police learned that she owns a gold wedding band, but seldom wears it. Detectives said the band was purchased recently because she "liked its looks."

Stanton and Respekt filed a report Saturday night which stated, in part, "Our findings after searching through Janice White's belongings indicate that this woman is very religious and highly patriotic."

The first major break-through came Sunday night when the woman reportedly told hospital aides, "My home is in St. Louis."

The St. Louis Globe-Democrat agreed to carry a story on the woman and requested a picture to run with their story. The paper's police reporter, Jim Floyd, also agreed to conduct his own "police check" on the woman.

The woman's photo and fingerprints have been sent to Washington, D.C., for processing in the FBI criminal laboratory there.

Meteorite Data Assists Astronomers

TITUSVILLE — Information, detailed and accurate, from individuals who witnessed the meteorite that streaked across eastern skies last week, can help astronomers compile better information about the rare event.

Dr. John P. Hagen, professor and head of the Department of Astronomy at Pennsylvania State University, said recently that he and his department would be pleased to receive such information, in writing, and would analyze it in an effort to learn more about the path of the meteorite.

Penn State is near the center of the area where the meteorite, which probably was traveling about 40 miles per second, was seen and the loud noise that followed it was heard.

Information that would be useful, Dr. Hagen said, would be details as to direction, based on a careful orientation as to where the observer stood and landmarks that marked the direction; elevation in the sky estimated by degrees from the horizon; and the length of time, if accurate, between the sighting and the sound that followed.

Specific geographic location of the observer is essential.

The noise that followed the sighting, Dr. Hagen said, is very rare and may indicate that the meteorite was low in the sky and possibly of considerable size. He said it might have been the size of a man's thumb, or his fist, noting that many of those observed are estimated to be the size of a grain of sand.

Dr. Hagen expressed doubt that the meteorite reached the earth but said if it did, information from observers over a wide area might be helpful in pinpointing a possible location. It would be difficult to locate.

The sound, Dr. Hagen believes, was probably a sonic boom, such as is produced by fast-flying jets, rather than an explosion of the meteorite in the atmosphere or after it buried itself in the earth.

Dr. Hagen, who joined Penn State's faculty in 1955 and had previously been the director of the first major space effort of the United States, Project Vanguard, expressed regret that he did not see the meteorite, although he heard the sound that followed.

"Probably none of us will again witness such a meteorite in our lifetime," he said.
